
About Trent McFarland

Trent McFarland is a professional rodeo entertainer & barrel man, commonly known as a rodeo clown. He has over 21 years of experience at entertaining crowds with his quick wit, crowd interaction and high energy. He was fortunate to be raised in a clown family. As a second generation clown he grew up making people laugh! He provides a style of in your face comedy that will leave your crowd wanting more. You can often find him along the fence or within the crowd during the performance and always readily available during an unexpected delay in the show.

If interested in booking Trent as your rodeo entertainer and barrel man, or other events in need of quality family entertainment; please click on the contact link above for more booking information.

